

Thomas D. Hall

Appellate Lawyer, Of Counsel with Bishop & Mills, former Clerk of the Supreme Court of Florida

Tom Hall is Of Counsel with Bishop & Mills. Bishop & Mills has offices in Jacksonville and Tallahassee, but Tom works primarily from his home in Babcock Ranch, Florida. He practices appellate law exclusively and has appeared in six of Florida's seven appellate courts. Before returning to private practice Tom was Clerk of Court of the Florida Supreme Court for 13 years and Chief Staff Attorney at the First District Court Appeal for 10 years. Tom spent a total of 25 years working in Florida's court system. Tom currently serves on both the Appellate Court Rules Committee and the Rules of General Practice and Judicial Administration Committee of The Florida Bar. He has chaired the Appellate Practice and Government Lawyers Sections of The Florida Bar. Tom is on the Board of Trustees of the Florida First Amendment Foundation and of the Florida Supreme Court Historical Society. He is also a member of the school board for the Babcock Ranch Neighborhood Charter School.

Tom had taught extensively. He was an adjunct professor at the University of Miami teaching legal research and writing. He also taught classes on the Uniform Commercial Code at St. Thomas Law School. He also taught in Barry University's paralegal program. He has also taught at Florida's New Appellate Judges school, and the Florida circuit, county, and appellate judges conferences. He has also taught at the Florida Court Clerks and Comptrollers education conferences. He has taught at national conferences such as the E-Court Conference and the National Conference of Appellate Court Clerk's annual education conference.

Tom is currently a consultant with the Florida Court Clerks and Comptrollers through his firm, TLH Consulting Group LLC. He has had numerous other consulting clients and offers non-legal advice consulting services for entities doing business with the Florida Court System.
